Technology.

"Not only do we have the technical areas, but there are multiple career paths within each area. For instance, we have students who go into our Automotive Technical program that end up working in a local garage. We have others who go on to CCAC and study to become certified Ford technicians, or GM or Toyota technicians.

"Our Construction Trades program is our newest one, combining our HVAC program and our Carpentry program. The new Construction Trades program supports all of the builder guilds. We have students who go on to join the sheet metal union, or work for a contractor, or even an architect planner."

Kutchta said that his desire is to give students the ability to "see that there are different paths they can go into. While they may come for a specific program, where they go from the program depends on the carer path they choose."

Kutchta said there

Administrative Director Wes Kuchta said visitors to tonight's Spring Open House will be "pleasantly surprised" when they tour the fourteen shops.

are also a lot of alumni that also like to come back to tour the school and find out the new programs that are available.

"Our students are doing some great work and we like to show them off!"

It's more than just serious discussions. There are also several fun events taking place.

"King's Restaurant will be sponsoring a burger eating contest in all of the shops at 7PM. We know our families will want to come and cheer on our individual programs."

In each of the programs, Kutchta said there will be students showcasing their work and doing live hands-on events.

"In our Machining program, you will actually see students working on the machines and going through their every day work."

Kutchta said he feels people will be pleasantly surprised with the Lenape Tech experience.

"I'm in this building every day, but when I go around and see our students working on some of the projects, it blows me away every day! We want our visitors to experience that feeling too. There are people who drive by, see our sign, the building, but have no idea what goes on inside. This is their opportunity to see it close up."

The Spring Open House begins tonight at 5:30 and continues till 8PM.

Lenape Tech is located at 2215 Chaplin Avenue in Manor Township.
